Renewals Total 12 Mills

Board To Submit 2 Levies But Turns Down Another

In an unprecedented action, the Board of Education Monday night rejected a recommendation from Supt. Paul H. Blair that it seek a new 1-mill levy at the May 5 primaries after approving resolutions asking voters to renew two levies totaling 12 mills.

After a lengthy discussion of the levies and how they may affect a possible building program, no action was taken on the superintendent's appeal for additional funds.

THE BOARD voted unanimously to seek renewal of the levies at the May election, but members remained silent when Harry D. McConville, president, asked if any action should be taken on Blair's recommendation to increase the millage.

Supporting the resolutions were Samuel W. Brown, Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, John R. Woomer and McConville. The fifth member, William C. Heasley, was absent.

The levies to appear on the May ballot will include an 11-mill levy for general operating expenses, which combines two existing levies of 8 and 3 mills, and a 1-mill levy earmarked specifically for repair and maintenance.

Under the present school district valuation of approximately $52,402,841, the 11 - mill levy would yield about $576,431 yearly for operating expenses and the repair and maintenance fund would receive approximately $52,402 from the 1-mill tax.

THE levies do not expire until 1965 and if renewed will not be effective until 1966 and will run for five years.

Blair explained it has been the policy of previous boards to ask renewal of expiring levies a year in advance.

The superintendent said the 1-mill levy produced about $47,000 a year under the old valuation for repair and maintenance. "Last year we spent every penny and some more to make needed repairs."

Furnace repairs were especially costly, he pointed out, declaring some furnaces are so obsolete that replacement parts had to be manufactured especially for them.

"We need more millage to keep up with the times. If we ask for the renewal only, when the time comes for collection, we will be behind. We are already behind and it takes time to catch up," the superintendent asserted.

IF THE board hopes to increase teachers' salaries and replace some equipment which is wearing out, then more than 12 mills would be needed, he said.

He explained that levies submitted at the primaries can only be voted for five years but pointed out that he believes the presidential election in November would have some influence on school issues.

Blair said a requisition for materials for the woodworking and metal shops at Westgate totals over $3,000 for this calendar year, nearly $1,000 more than last year primarily because of increased costs.

The decision on the levies cannot be prolonged, the superintendent continued, urging the

Beaver Local Will Ask New 5-Mill Levy

Board Clears Plans For Submitting Tax At Vote In Primary

Plans for submitting a proposed 5 - mill Beaver Local School District levy to voters in the May 5 primary were approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

The levy would include 4 - mills for improving the teacher salary schedule for the district and 1 mill for making up money expected to be lost through 1965 reductions of the state foundation program.

Board members pointed out Beaver Local has the lowest teacher salary schedule in the county, and the district has not had a basic pay structure increase since 1962 although other districts in the county have had one or two boosts and will have a third by the end of the year.

The board also said 30 instructors left the system last year, and a salary schedule improvement is vitally needed unless Beaver Local goes "out of the teacher market."

The levy would require only majority approval for passage. It would be possible to establish a new salary schedule by September, with the board borrowing against the levy, which would go into effect in 1965.

The board explained that an unsupervised "grandfather clause" in the state legislation for school funds eliminated the need for again asking for 7 mills.

It had been anticipated by almost all school districts that a sizable sum of money would be cut from the state funds due to the new program of shifting financing to local levels.

However, one clause permitted

Smoking In Bed Seen Cause Of Fatal Blaze

BEAVER — The fire that claimed the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Absalmo McKarney Monday was blamed on the husband's smoking in bed, according to Bert Korieth of Butler, deputy state fire marshal.

Mr. McKarney, 81, had been known to faint while smoking, the deputy said. Mrs. McKarney, 78, was an invalid. Wilbur Hall, a son of Mrs. McKarney, who resides in a home at the rear of the property in Rochester Township tried to enter the one-story frame home and was burned slightly and suffered cuts. A double service will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Todd Funeral Home where friends may call tonight. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Freedom.

Bonds Vote Due Southern Local District

A $250,000 bond issue for additional classrooms at Salineville Grade School and Southern Local High School, along with an additional operating levy, were authorized for the May 5 primary election at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

The board agreed to submit to voters a proposed renewal of a 4.4-mill levy along with a new 4.4-mill levy for additional operating expenses.

The bond issue would provide funds for addition of four new classrooms at the high school and four additional rooms at the Salineville school for a consolidated eighth grade for the district.

The issue would also provide funds for repairs to the Wayne and Franklin Schools, such as to the heating systems.

The new levy is designed to bring in some $45,000 annually for general operating expenses and for new teachers needed under the proposed expanded program. It would be for five years.

It was pointed out the district has not had an increased operating levy since it was founded six years ago.

A $250,000 bond issue for an addition at the high school for a consolidated seventh and eighth grade and an additional operating levy were turned down by voters in November.

Board members have repeatedly emphasized the need for additional rooms at the high school to accommodate the increased high school enrollment.

Enrollment has increased throughout the district, and new teachers have been added in past years, pointing up the need for additional operating funds.

The board will meet again Monday.

Plant's Site Brings Break Between Council And Hall

The first public break between the Democratic Council and Mayor Merrill D. Hall's Republican administration erupted Monday night when several councilmen charged they were "kept in the dark" and discussions were held "behind closed doors" when a dress manufacturer came to East Liverpool in early January seeking a plant site.

But the argument ended inconclusively after remarks by the mayor and several councilmen, as well as spectators in the audience.

REPRESENTATIVES of Bobbie Brooks, Inc., came to East Liverpool about a month ago for the announced purpose of finding a location for a new plant. After meeting with the administration and spokesmen for the Community Improvement Co. and Chamber of Commerce, the company's representatives

Man, 33, Dies When Caught In Bulldozer

Refuse Contractor Victim Of Accident In Palestine Area

A 33-year-old Beaver garbage hauler was killed Monday afternoon at a sanitary fill near East Palestine when caught in the mechanism of a bulldozer.

James R. (Bob) Griffin of 374 3rd St., Beaver, rubbish and garbage contractor for the community, died of a skull fracture and internal injuries received in the device that raises the blade of the large machine about 5 p.m.

The mishap occurred at the sanitary fill site on the former Fink farm along State Line Rd., about a half mile southeast of East Palestine.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan and Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, Columbiana County coroner, said Mr. Griffin was partially crippled in the left arm and leg and apparently slipped into the machine's moving parts when he got up from the seat of the dozer.

Witnesses said a truck from Aliquippa came into the dump area and Mr. Griffin pulled the dozer close to the truck. Suddenly, the victim was spotted in the treads of the bulldozer, which was moving backward.

Dr. Kolozsi said Mr. Griffin's foot apparently bumped the clutch level and was dragged into the moving parts.

He took over the business after his father died recently.

Services for Mr. Griffin will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Todd Funeral Home in Beaver by the Rev. Daniel Andresen, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Red China May Adopt New Policy

Go-It-Alone Plan Would Carve Red World Into 2 Blocs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China may be on the verge of a go-it-alone policy which could carve the Communist world into two distinct and even opposing blocs.

Peking is flexing new muscles. Possibly it feels more confident since the recognition extended by France. Turning Nikita Khrushchev's own words against him, Peking implies the Soviet premier and his Europe Communists should let Red China lead the revolution in Asia and Africa.

Khrushchev, who once promised to bury the West's social system, himself is going to be buried by the revolutionary movement, said Peking in its latest broadside.

The attack accused Khrushchev of encouraging an "anti-party group" inside the Chinese party. The use of this phrase—coined by Khrushchev—is tinged with sarcasm.

The Chinese party never had a violent purge in the old Soviet style. If it had purges it avoided advertising them. But there is a hint in the use of the term "anti-party" that Mao Tse-tung handled resistance to his policies within his own Politburo in the only way Communists seem able to deal with differences of opinion.

It is widely known that Khrushchev opposed Mao's attempt to launch Red China on the "great leap forward." Khrushchev applauded those in the Peking leadership—like Marshal Peng Teh-huai, an old comrade of Mao—who resisted the great leap.

Bar Operator Fined $100 In Gaming Case

The owner of a tavern on Route 30 east of Chester was fined $100 and costs on a charge of exhibiting gaming equipment but the testimony of a patron who lost $60 there in a card game over the weekend was not needed for the hearing Monday night before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Robert Fryer, owner of the Half Moon tavern, was fined on a charge of exhibiting gaming equipment — a blackjack table.

As the defendant pleaded guilty, the testimony of Marcy Chestnut, 18, of the East Liverpool YMCA was not necessary for a conviction of the charge filed by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Chestnut had asked Squire Herron Sunday morning at 2.30 to issue a search and seizure warrant to allow the sheriff's office to enter the tavern and investigate his complaint of losing $60 in a blackjack game.

The warrant was issued, and Squire Herron ordered Chestnut confined in County Jail to assure his appearance at Monday night's hearing to testify regarding the charge.

Fryer signed a waiver that allows county authorities to dispose of the equipment.

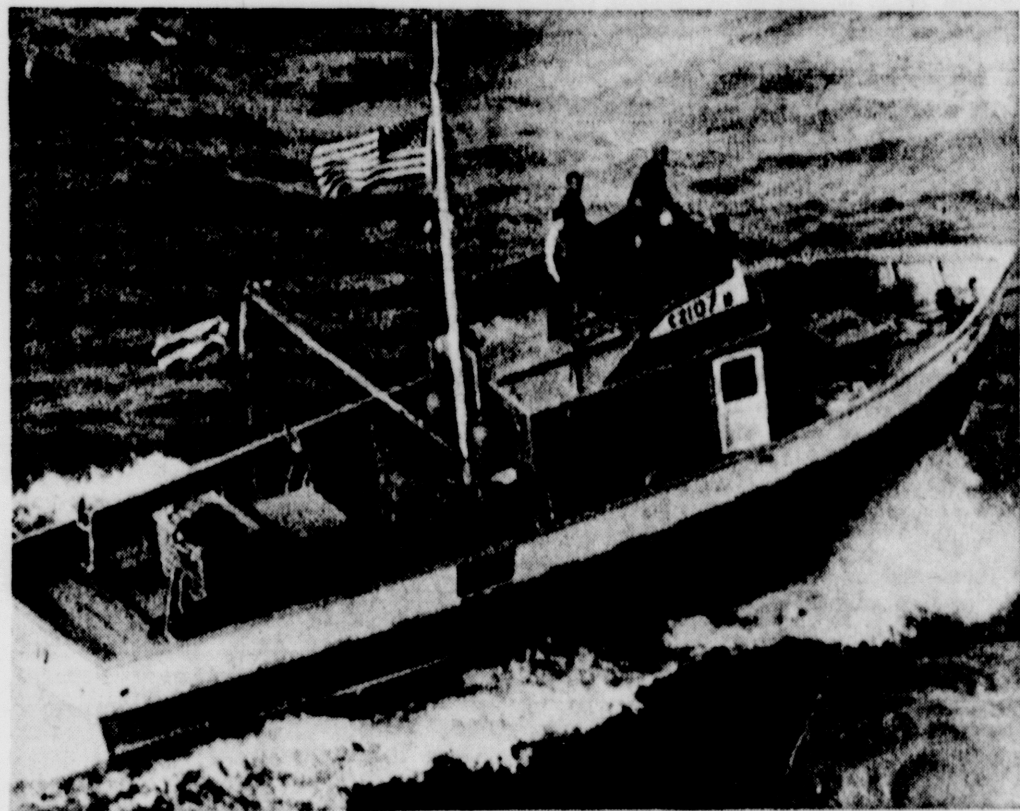

Chestnut was brought to the hearing, but did not testify when Fryer pleaded guilty.

He was the first complainant to be held in custody by Squire Herron in four similar cases in the past few years. In the other three cases, the complaining witness was not held, and in each case failed to appear to testify at the hearing and gaming charges against tavern owners were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Gets Money From Seller And Buyer

Former Senate Aide Pictured As Helping To Engineer 'Plot'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators disclosed testimony today that Bobby Baker is raking in money both from the seller and the buyer in a Haitian meat deal.

The testimony pictured Baker as helping to engineer the deal, which in the beginning involved Jose Benitez, who was identified as Puerto Rico's Democratic national committeeman.

The complex transaction was described by Francis E. Law and Thomas Webb Jr., Washington business partners, who said they also get a cut of the two-way profit.

Law and Webb testified at closed hearings last week of the Senate Rules Committee. The Senate group is investigating the outside business operations of Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the senate's Democratic majority.

Sen. Albert D. Gore, D-Tenn., promised meanwhile to introduce a resolution to widen the Rules Committee's authority in investigating all the ins and outs of the case.

One issue has been whether the group has authority to investigate senators and aides to senators — as distinguished from employees of the Senate itself—concerning their dealings with Baker. Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., insists it lacks such powers and is "not investigating senators."

The committee is investigating whether Baker's outside business dealings involved conflict of interest or other improprieties, and whether any other Senate employees were involved. Baker resigned Oct. 7 as secretary to the Democratic Senate majority.

Board Slates Borrowing To Meet Payroll

In a triple - barreled action Monday night, the Board of Education authorized borrowing of funds to meet the February payroll and decided to write the State Department of Education and County Auditor Kenneth Bell asking for advances.

The board voted unanimously to authorize Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, and Harry D. McConville, president, to borrow the necessary amount for the payrolls after Supt. Paul H. Blair reported it is certain no funds will be available from either source until the end of the month and in early March.

Miss Liebschner said she will confer with the finance committee of Samuel W. Brown and Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop on the amount necessary.

She explained that the board still owes $18,276 on the January payrolls in addition to outstanding bills presented for payment last night and at the meeting Jan. 27.

Because of the shortage of operating funds, Miss Liebschner said only the net amount of the pay checks was paid with the board still owing the amount it pays for retirement and to the government for taxes.

Mrs. Dunlop's suggestion the board write the state department explaining the problem and the fact that teachers' pay is due Feb. 20 was approved unanimously.

The quarterly foundation check is due Feb. 20 but rarely

Former Agreement For Project Given Council Approval

Final local legislation required for rebuilding St. Clair Ave. between Princeton Ave. and the city limits was approved unanimously by City Council Monday night.

The resolution officially ratifies a prior agreement between the city and the State Highway Department for the $846,000 improvement. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper told Council.

The Highway Department indicated about two weeks ago it expected to call for contractors' bids on the project by March 4 or March 18. Negotiations for the job date back nearly four years.

The legislation approved last night reiterates that the city's overall share of the job will be $423,393 if the low bid is within the range anticipated in the state's estimates. But $75,000 will be contributed, if needed, by county commissioners, leaving the city's net share at $348,393, the legislation provides.

About $150,000 of the city's share will be comprised of $10-a-foot assessments against property - owners.

The legislation guarantees that the city's share will be available, when required, and requests the state to proceed with the improvement. The state will have no investment in the work. It is acting as agent for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which will pay 50 per cent of the cost.

The resolution spells out the limits of the project definitely.

Chester Voters Cast Ballots On Park Levy

A "fairly heavy" turnout of voters in Chester's special election today on a proposed 50-cent a month assessment for City Park was reported during the forenoon by poll workers.

The five polling places are located at the City Hall and are manned by volunteer staffs. The proposed levy would provide funds for maintaining and improving the park.

Firemen Ask Pay Increase And 'Fringes'

Council asked its finance committee Monday night to study a fire department request for a 25 per cent wage increase and several "fringe benefits."

The requests were presented to Council in a caucus session by a three - man committee representing Local 24, International Association of Fire - Fighters. The local was represented by Firemen Edwin Greenwood, Russell E. Dray and John Taylor.

The firemen's proposition contained four more points. They asked for designation of seven holidays for which members of the department would be paid time and a half rates or given added vacation time. The proposed holidays are: New Year's, Easter, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The committee asked "call back" pay at the rate of $2.50 an hour for a minimum of two hours. It asked overtime pay at the same rate. It also proposed longevity pay based on an increase of 2 per cent on base pay for every five years.

The local's letter to council said the present salary is $4,800 a year, which amounts to $1.64 hourly for a 56-hour week.

Dray told Council the police department receives overtime pay and street department workers are given "call back"

Fire Causes $2,500 Loss At Wellsville

Faulty Wiring To Blame For Blaze In 2-Story House

Fire caused an estimated $2,500 damage at a Wellsville home Monday evening at 5:45.

The blaze was at the home of John H. Maddox, 435 14th St. The house is owned by Joseph Harris, 475 14th St.

Firemen said the blaze was caused by faulty wiring. Maddox discovered the fire and attempted to put it out with a garden hose.

The fire started in the basement and spread up the exterior walls. Assistant Chief Robert Lloyd said practically the entire front of the home was burned out between the walls as well as between the first story ceiling and the second floor.

The family escaped unharmd. The home was filled with dense smoke and firemen had to use air packs to get inside.

The men had to cut through the walls, into the attic and through the second - story floor to get at the flames.

The damage was estimated at $1,500 to the house and $1,000 to contents. Lloyd said the damage to the contents was primarily from smoke and water.

Board Of Utilities Replies To Proposals By Murray

Answering a proposal made Jan. 20 by Councilman Floyd Murray to return administration of the water and sewage departments to the safety-service director, the three - man Board of Public Utilities told Council in a letter Monday night that delinquent accounts have been reduced greatly and many major projects have been completed in the 11 years since it came into being.

The five - page letter was signed by all three members of the unsalaried board, W. O. Schneider, chairman, Howard T. Moore and F. L. Cloran.

IN A MOVE aimed at taking the operation out of politics, the board was established in 1952 to administer the water department. After the sewage treatment plant went into operation, that department also was placed under the board's jurisdiction. The late Arnold W. Devon was mayor and the late Law-ence Bloor was director when the board was established originally.

In a statement calling for "efficiency and economy" in operation of the city government, Murray told Council two weeks ago that administration of the two departments should be placed in the hands of "efficient, capable persons of honesty, integrity and good judgment."

HE ALSO recommended a change in administration of the city income tax department as part of his statement.

In its reply, the board told Council:

"This board, as a public service, serves without compensation. It is our opinion that all of its responsibilities have been executed in an honest, efficient, impartial and non-political manner. Charges of dishonesty and inefficiency cannot be substantiated."

Board

It added: "It is not the intention of the members of this board to perpetuate themselves in office, but to perpetuate the present system of administration, which we feel is to the best interests of the city and its people."

The board's letter was devoted principally to listing some of the major water department projects that have been completed in the last few years.

ALTHOUGH delinquent accounts at one time totaled $76,000, they have been cut to less than $5,000, it said.

The text of the letter follows: "It was with some concern that we read of a proposal in Council to change the administration of the water and sewer departments from the Board of Public Utilities to the safety-service director. The volume of work in the two departments is too great to add to an already overworked service director."

"It also would take his attention away from the street and other programs as well as other matters pertaining to the fire, incinerator and electrical departments and others. A reminder of past experience may be in order."

"Before the board was established, the delinquency of water customers was a well-known fact. At one time, it was $76,000. At the present time this delinquency is less than $5,000 for a customer capacity of 7,500. The amount of bonds issued in the departments requires that the collections be kept up to pay off the bonds as they become due. The rundown condition of the physical property and department as a whole was quite evident. To state a few facts for your information:

"THE maintenance building at the Thompson Ave. reservoir was a broken-down wooden shack. The walls of the reservoirs were deteriorated very badly. The board, with the help of Council, constructed a new maintenance building at the reservoir at a cost of approximately $11,000. Also, new wire fences were erected around both the high service and low service reservoirs at a cost of approximately $6,000.

"New valves have been installed at the high service reservoir to control the water at a cost of approximately $6,000. The concrete walls of these reservoirs were very badly deteriorated as photographs will show. In 1961, a repair program was started on these walls. Last year and the year before, we spent almost $20,000 on repair of walls at the Thompson Ave. reservoir, utilizing our own labor. This program is not complete, but we expect to complete it within the next two years.

"At the filtration plant, the tops of the concrete walls of the settling tanks were rebuilt completely, utilizing local labor, at a cost of $5,400. Two new 14-inch wash valves were installed in the pipe gallery at a cost of $1,300.

"THE OLD sand on the six filters was removed completely and replaced with 300 tons of new filter sand. New chlorinators have been purchased, as well as a new lime-feeding machine and new explosion-proof wiring has been installed in this building. The work included installation of a new boiler at a total cost of $11,000. Repairs to the wash tank amounted to $5,400.

"At the pump station, a new 200-horsepower standby motor was purchased for use on high service. The reservoir gauges have been taken off the old city wiring system and distributed through telephone circuits. To alleviate an only pipeline and overloaded system on the high service, the board — with the help of Council — constructed a new pumping station on Laura Ave. The total cost of these items was approximately $46,000.

"At the standpipes, 40 feet of badly-deteriorated steel was cut off from the No. 1 unit and replaced with new steel. A new roof was installed on the No. 2 unit, as well as rewelding of pits and seams. New "no oxide" protection has been placed inside each tank. Total cost of these repairs was approximately $12,000.

"THE RELOCATION of the 12-inch main on the Hill Rd. was done at a cost of $8,000. The old deteriorated main on the River Rd. was bypassed. And many, many more new sections and relocations have been made in the distribution system, including new valves, fittings, etc.

"At one time, only 50 per cent of the customers were metered. No bonds for a sewage disposal system could be sold until the city was 100 per cent metered.

"The board, with City Council, initiated the metering program and carried it through to completion. An issue of mortgage revenue bonds was sold to obtain $155,000 to build up the distribution system in low-pressure areas of Maplewood, Pleasant Heights and Sunnyside. This consisted of 6-, 8-, 10- and 12-inch pipe. These bonds will not be paid off until 1968. The payments on these bonds run $17,000 per year.

"ONLY A SLIGHT amount of insurance was carried on the water works property. The coverage was about $10,000. This now has been expanded to $1,100,000 for both water and sewer departments. Property damage and liability insurance is carried on all vehicles. There was none previously.

"Further improvements will be made as soon as finances will permit.

"This board, as a public service, serves without compensation. It is our opinion that all of its responsibilities have been executed in an honest, efficient, impartial and non-political manner. Charges of dishonesty and inefficiency cannot be substantiated.

"These utilities represent an investment of several million dollars. It is our purpose to provide everyone with all the water they need at the most economical cost.

"IF CITY COUNCIL as a whole, or any member, or any citizen wishes to have some matter clarified due to a misunderstanding this board will always be more than happy to meet with them. It is only by working together, gentlemen, that we can make progress.

"It is not the intent of the members of this board to perpetuate themselves in office, but to perpetuate this present system of administration, which we feel is to the best interests of the city and its people.

"We trust we can look forward to your continued cooperation. You can depend on ours."

Council received and filed the letter.

Murray commented briefly on the paragraph that said in part "charges of dishonesty and inefficiency cannot be substantiated."

"I DIDN'T accuse anyone of dishonesty or inefficiency," Murray said. "I still advocate the abolition of the board and placing the departments' operations under the director. The board's meetings are never publicized. Why aren't the citizens and the press invited?"

He read again a remark he made at the Jan. 20 meeting suggesting that Council act "to place the Department of Public Utilities under the full control of a person of experience, honesty and integrity, one who is fully capable of giving good public service to our citizens."

"I don't think Council intended to imply that anyone is dishonest," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "But we intend to investigate all facets of city government. When we find duplications, we want to eliminate them. That's why this action was suggested."

pay. He said the department now has 31 members, although 33 are authorized by ordinance.

Greenwood presented Council with a list of the pay rates of fire departments in cities within a 100-mile radius. He pointed out most of the scales are above the East Liverpool levels.

Councilman Donald Hancock said the boost sought by the firemen would cost the city $36,000 a year. Councilman William Davis remarked a 25 per cent boost would amount to 41 cents more on the hour.

Dray commented that the minimum rate now is $2.10 hourly at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

As the discussion ended, Council referred the proposals to its finance committee, headed by Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr.

About 90 minutes later, near the close of Council's regular session, Councilman Norman Bucher declared that Council must take a close look at all pay raise requests to assure that income tax revenue is spent for the general good of the city.

"Council's seven members are all members of the United Steel Workers and we are not opposed to pay raises," Bucher said. "But as elected representatives of the people, I believe our main thought should be how we spend the tax money that the people so graciously gave us."

"We are going to use it in the proper places, improvements in streets and so on," he said. "The main thing we must do is improve our city. That's what the people want."

Bucher said he did not intend to imply that no raises would be granted, but he said all the requests must be investigated thoroughly.

Council also agreed to meet in caucus session Feb. 17 at 7 p. m. to discuss a request for a pay increase with the wage and grievance committee of Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29.

The request for the meeting was relayed to Council by Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. He read a letter signed by Chief A. J. Radeschi requesting the meeting. Council then set the time.

Council also referred to its finance committee a letter from Harold (Bus) Cartwright of the engineer's office asking a monthly allowance for use of his car on city business. He said other city employees now are paid $75 or more a month for car expense.

Sample reported the finance committee still is studying a request from Bailiff Wilbert Taylor of Municipal Court for a $100-a-month increase in his car expense allowance. Sample said the committee is awaiting "further information."

board to give it serious consideration. He asked the board members to make a recommendation as to what should be done.

In response to a question from McConville, Blair said he believes the public would support the levies if they understand the need. They would not affect any building program, he said.

WOOMER, a new member of the board, received an explanation on the levies and Brown inquired as to the manner in which they would appear on the ballot.

McConville was informed that any increase in salaries would be for both teachers and non-teaching personnel. The board president then suggested a 10 per cent raise be granted after the board actually receives the money and not before.

He said in a previous increase that some teachers were irked since administrators were granted salary boosts in July before the money was received but that raises for the teachers were delayed until January. (Most of the administrators work on contracts starting Aug. 1.)

Mrs. Dunlop commented, "We can't have everything. I feel an increase (in the millage) now would endanger any building program."

When no recommendation on the proposed levies was made, Blair proposed the board seek renewal of 12 mills and ask an additional 1 mill.

HE SUGGESTED the new mill not be designated specifically for salaries since it could be misinterpreted. By setting a definite amount, it would tie the administration's hands since a portion must be set aside to pay the additional retirement costs. The board now pays 10½ per cent into the retirement funds with teachers contributing 7 per cent.

After considerable more discussion, Woomer made a motion the board approve a resolution seeking renewal of the 11 mills. In a misunderstanding over which levy was being voted upon, Mrs. Dunlop cast a dissenting vote and the other three members voted yes.

Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, said the motion failed since a levy resolution requires approval by two-thirds of the board members.

AFTER another brief discussion, the resolution asking renewal of 11 mills was approved unanimously and Brown's motion to place the 1-mill maintenance levy on the ballot also was approved.

When no motion was made on placing a new 1-mill levy on the ballot, McConville asked the superintendent to proceed with the agenda.

Blair asked for permission to make a statement and declared: "I hope the board realizes it would not receive any of this money until 1966. I want to point out the importance of looking to the future. I believe personally you are making a mistake if you do not look at this realistically."

Mrs. Dunlop replied, "I am looking to the future and I can see new schools. I would love to give a raise but we can't do everything."

The discussion ended and the board then turned to other business.

East Palestine Judge Fines 3 Area Drivers

Three motorists were fined on traffic charges at hearings held by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Monday.

Vincent H. Broomhall of Andrews Pl. was fined $5 and costs for failure to stop at an intersection on a charge filed by St. Clair Township Constable Harry Skelton.

Robert Reeves of New Waterford was fined $15 and costs on a similar charge, and Paul Rosenbaum of Beaver Falls was fined $15 and costs for reckless operation.

behind closed doors," he said. "I had to wait an hour and a half to see him."

"Murray's remarks are true," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "Council didn't know anything about it until we read it in the paper. We were in the dark."

"That investigation should not have been known to anyone except two or three people," the mayor said. "I was following orders on the procedure."

As he spoke, the mayor was interrupted several times by Murray.

"Doesn't Council mean anything?" the councilman asked. "They didn't want publicity," Mayor Hall said. "The fact it was in the paper hurt us."

"I had a telephone call in which they asked if there were available buildings, if there was money available and if the people were interested," the mayor said. "I answered 'yes' to all three."

HALL related that the company's representatives were taken to a building by E. R. Chandler of the Chamber of Commerce, "but they would not even go inside."

"The second building was too small," he said. "They handed us a form and said: 'if you can produce anything like this, we're interested.'"

"There was no suitable building," the mayor added. "They made a survey; they wanted to know the attitude of the city. They seemed to feel there was no co-operation here. They said if the people know a survey is being made, they don't get true answers."

"Did they stipulate there would be no union?" Councilman William Davis asked. The mayor replied the firm said all its plants are unionized and it would expect any new operation to be unionized.

"The councilmen only know what they read in the paper," Councilman Donald Hancock said. "If they won't come to us, it's a shame. Council is not responsible."

"I DON'T know what buildings were shown," Murray said. "I had a couple in mind myself. Council knew nothing of it. If we had, we would have worked with the administration."

In response to a remark from a spectator, Mayor Hall said: "They would only consider one building and it is occupied by a super-market."

Rudy Halpate of Walnut St. took the floor next.

"Were they provoked because it got into the paper?" he asked. "I understand they were burned up."

"That isn't true," the mayor replied. "They are still interested if we have a suitable building. They are going to start three plants in Ohio this year."

Halpate remarked there is "a beautiful plant site" near the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. building.

FRED Cressen of Dixonville said he read that there was a $265,000 balance in the income tax fund at the end of 1963. He said some of the money could have been used to provide a plant.

Murray replied that Cressen's figure was "not correct" and added: "There was no large balance in the income tax."

Firms, Union Write

Need For Signal Cited To Council

Council received letters Monday night from five manufacturers and businessmen and a local union protesting a move to turn off—and perhaps eventually remove—a traffic signal installed last year at Pennsylvania and Virginia Aves.

The move was protested by: American Vitriol Products Co., Economy Manufacturing Co., Wallover Oil Co., Birch Equipment & Manufacturing Co., Kerr Lumber Co. and Local 349, United Brick and Clayworkers, representing 170 employees of the Amvrit plant.

COUNCILMAN Floyd Murray, who proposed the investigation Jan. 20, reiterated it last night. He suggested that the signal be turned off for a 90-day trial period to determine if it is needed. If not, the signal can be removed, Murray said.

"I have had just as many protests against the light as we have had in favor of retaining it," Murray commented.

All of the business and manufacturing firms declared in their letters that it is difficult or impossible for traffic to move onto Pennsylvania Ave. from Virginia Ave. if the signal is not functioning. They cited the large volume of trucks that use Virginia Ave. as access to plants.

The union said its members will be "handicapped" and traffic will be "a nightmare" if the signal is removed. The Amvrit letter said installation of the light "was one of the best things Council did for the community."

THE letters were received and filed.

In other business, the ordinance committee was given a suggestion from Councilman Norman Bucher for investigation of the possibility of enacting legislation to fluoridate the city's water supply as a way of helping control tooth decay, especially in youngsters. Bucher heads the committee.

The councilman said several dentists recommended fluoridation in talks with him. He asked Council to study the proposal and said the Carnegie Public Library has a section on water supply that "gives the facts pro and con."

Council approved Murray's motion asking Clerk Lawrence Applegate to write to the State Health Department for additional literature.

BUCHER also asked the street committee to investigate several poles set in the pavement at the junction of St. Clair Ave. and Avondale St. They are unlighted and are a hazard to traffic on a foggy morning, he said.

Reporting for the street committee, Murray said there are "a lot of bad holes in the pavements," but the director and street superintendent are taking care of them as rapidly as possible.

Councilman Donald Hancock, reporting for the claims committee, recommended rejection of bills of $5.50 and $27, both filed by the Calvary Methodist Church. The church alleged its property was damaged when a sewer backed up, he said.

Councilman William Davis of the planning committee reported a representative of a Weirton TV cable firm that seeks contracts in East Liverpool and Wellsville will confer with Wellsville Council tonight at 7:30. East Liverpool councilmen have been invited, he said.

THE CLAIMS committee was given two bills against the city. Anna C. Martin of 13 11th St., Midland, asked $60, claiming a city high-lift removing snow swerved into her traffic lane and hit her car Jan. 20 on Pennsylvania Ave.

Thelma Shuffert, 1716 Wyoming Ave., filed a claim for $77 for injuries to her back and hip allegedly suffered Sept. 6, 1963, when she caught her heel in a broken curb on Market St., causing her to fall.

Council approved a resolution to pay a $100 claim of Steve G. Berdis of Youngstown, whose auto allegedly was hit by an East Liverpool police cruiser Feb. 1, 1963, on S. Market St., Youngstown.

The legislation said the cruiser hit a patch of ice, which forced it across the center line. Driven by Patrolman Paul Blevins, it was taking a mental patient to a Youngstown hospital.

MURRAY commented that Blevins "is a fine police officer and the accident was no fault of his own." He said the of-

Council Aims Rogers Street Opening Plan

ROGERS — Proposed opening of rights-of-way on several streets in the village was discussed at a meeting of Council Monday night.

Glenn Rhodes, president, said he had been asked by a number of residents about opening lanes laid out as streets but unused for many years.

Action on the openings was tabled until better weather by the street committee, headed by Wallace Swaney.

Payment of the electric bill of $36 for the Community Hall and traffic signal at Route 7 was also tabled because councilmen indicated it is excessive. A representative of the Ohio Edison Co. will be asked to attend a later meeting to air the electric rates.

Mavor Robert McCreary reported he has received many complaints about dogs running at large. He pointed out a village ordinance requires owners to keep pets tied, and warned the measure will be enforced.

Discussion was held on moving the corporation sign as a result of a transfer of area on the northwest area of the village to Middleton Township. Bills totaling $430 were paid. Next meeting will be March 2.

arrives before the end of the month.

Brown commented, "I think it is time we as a board find out who is running the tax duplicate. We don't want to accuse any faction wrongly, but we should get the facts."

He then made a motion the clerk write Bell estimating the approximate needs and asking for an "immediate advance" on the real estate taxes. "At least we will find out where we stand."

Miss Liebschner said an advance normally is two-thirds of the amount due on the first-half settlement.

She reported the deficit in the general fund, from which operating expenses are paid, has reached $6,628 with a balance of only $20,338 in all other accounts.

The present board and the former board have been irked because of the necessity of paying interest for money to meet payrolls and other obligations.

At its meeting Jan. 27, members said it was wrong for the board to have to pay interest on the taxpayers' own money. Last year the board borrowed nearly $750,000 and paid out some $1,100 in interest.

City Board To Participate

Vocational High Study Approved

The Board of Education agreed Monday night to co-operate in a survey to consider the establishment of a county area vocational high school.

The recommendation was made by Supt. Paul H. Blair, who said he didn't regard the survey favorably when first approached by other superintendents.

Blair indicated he had changed his mind after learning more about the proposed program and said the information obtained by the survey team will be given the board.

THE SURVEY probably will not start until after September since the team is booked solidly for the remainder of the school year.

The board authorized Lincoln School Parent - Teacher Association permission to use the school gymnasium on Feb. 29 from 7 to 10:30 p. m. for a barbershop harmony show after agreeing with Blair's recommendation that it deny permission on Wednesday, Feb. 26, the date preferred by the school group.

Blair said it has been past policy not to rent school facilities on Wednesday nights because of a conflict with church services. He said PTA officials had been apprised of the policy and had submitted Feb. 29 as the alternate date. The charge will be for the custodian's time.

THE BOARD also nominated Asst. Supt. George Hargraves and Thomas Doland, president of the City Federation of Parent - Teacher Associations, as members of the Area Board of Trustees of Kent State University's Salem Academic Center.

It rented Westgate cafeteria to Cub Pack 34 of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church on Feb. 27 from 5:30 to 9 p. m. for a Blue and Gold banquet. The charge will be $18 plus custodial help.

Lawson Mason of Gilson Ave. appeared before the board to inquire about an apparent delay in the high school office in mailing a transcript of his daughter's records to two schools.

MASON SAID a clerk apparently failed to include his check with his daughter's record sent to one school. By the time the matter had been straightened out, the enrollment had been closed, he told the board.

He said his daughter had received notice Thursday from Ohio Wesleyan University to have a transcript mailed immediately but when she checked Monday she was told it would be sent this week.

Principal Carl Pelini, who attended the meeting, said he was unaware of the transcript request and Samuel W. Brown,

There is insurance on the home but none on contents. Firemen fought the blaze for about an hour. Lloyd thanked an unidentified neighbor who furnished the men with coffee. He said the weather was very cold and the ladders and some of the hoses started to ice up. Two men were sent back to the home about 8:30 to check and found some sparks which had to be extinguished. They remained another 30 minutes to make sure all the fire was out, Lloyd said.

Fuel line freeze-up can mean a costly tow!

Use Boron with Ice-gard for positive protection against fuel line freeze-up in any Ohio weather

When fuel line freeze-up happens, you stop cold! Gasoline can't get to your engine because ice has blocked your fuel line! This ice is caused by water condensed from the air in your gas tank that has worked into a low point of your fuel line and frozen solid. Your car will probably have to be towed away to a heated garage. And then you'll have to wait... and wait... until your fuel line thaws out!

You can prevent this serious winter driving problem by using Boron Gasoline with its special Ice-gard ingredient! This added Ice-gard ingredient keeps water from freezing so ice cannot form. Boron with Ice-gard flows freely to your engine! Your very first tankful of Boron with Ice-gard protects you against a frozen fuel line! And continuous use keeps that protection going strong!

For years, drivers have protected themselves against fuel line freeze-up by buying fuel line anti-icers and adding them to their gasoline.

Regular use of Boron with Ice-gard makes this unnecessary, because Ice-gard is already in Boron! You get positive, automatic protection against fuel line freeze-up. And you get it at no extra cost!

The Standard Oil Company (Ohio)

Boron with Ice-gard eliminates the need to add anti-icers to your gasoline!

How The Trouble Began

Realization is creeping through the U.S. government that French President Charles de Gaulle may be worth listening to when he talks about his nation's former responsibilities in Indo-China. The parallel with Korea will be easier to see as it becomes clearer that De Gaulle's notion about neutralizing Southeast Asia has merit.

President Eisenhower warned just before France lost Indo-China in the fall of the fortress at Dienbienphu that the United States should stay out lest it become involved in another Korea. Yet, under the Kennedy administration it went in and did become involved in another Korea.

THE TROUBLE began in a cease-fire arrangement in 1954 when Communists were given control of what later became the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam—North Viet Nam. That was how the trouble in Korea — an arbitrary division of a nation into Communist and non-Communist halves.

The Communists were not willing to live within such an agreement in Korea, and they were unwilling to live within such an agreement in Viet Nam. Guerrilla warfare has persisted since 1954. As France discovered during the nearly 10 years it fought the Communists in Indo-China, from 1945 to 1954, no outside power can match the infiltration tactics of a guerrilla army that receives military supplies from neighboring China and, recently, from its own light industry.

AMERICANS are assured repeatedly that the war in which 15,000 of their fellow countrymen now are deeply involved is going to be stepped up.

But is victory going to be won in Viet Nam?

Is it going to be won in Korea, where only a cease-fire and an uneasy truce keep the war from being resumed?

An Embarrassing Situation

The surgeon general of the United States, Dr. Luther L. Terry, testified for the tobacco subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee the other day and put a few things about cigarette smoking in perspective for the legislators.

One was the fact nothing in a leaf of tobacco can be said to cause cancer. But when tobacco or any other vegetable material is burned, hazardous substances are produced that can cause cancer.

Another was the surgeon general's opinion that prohibition of tobacco would solve no problem. Not enough is known about the complex nature of the problems to think of anything so drastic.

The imperative need at the moment is for research to learn more about the problem. To date, all that's known for certain, according to the Advisory Committee on Smoking, whose report has alerted the country officially to the potential danger in excessive smoking, is that smokers — especially cigarette smokers — are more likely to develop cancerous growths than nonsmokers.

As popular discussion of this problem continues, with millions of smokers subject to drastic changes of habit, still another imperative need must be considered. Even if smoking ultimately begins to accelerate again after a setback, the effect on public revenue must be considered.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are at stake in tobacco excise taxes. Federal and state governments must be prepared to raise revenue from new sources if there is a cutback in yield from tobacco taxation.

Just One 'For Instance'

President Johnson is sticking by his claim that double overtime would make enough jobs to put a dent in unemployment.

He is being assured of organized labor support for his idea, which is understandable. But it can be doubted that organized labor supports double overtime for the same reason the President is supporting it.

The idea of limiting the work week in the first place, organized labor said, was to spread work. But that was not the effect of penalizing employees for keeping people on the job longer than the 40-hour maximum per week.

As often as not, the effect was to reward employees with time and a half and double time rates for getting out the work. They liked the idea of more pay. Overtime became so deeply ingrained as an industrial practice that it was and still remains a prime factor in collective bargaining on take-home pay.

The actual truth is that everything which makes employers toe the mark in employment practices minimizes employment. They would rather get out the work with the best producers already on their payrolls then add more, or call in extra help. There are too many strings to manipulate, too much red tape to handle, too much bookkeeping, too many liabilities to assume. They can't afford to employ more people.

Naturally, a politician thinks the way to help employment is to make it more expensive to employ labor. President Johnson is first, last and foremost a politician. If he would talk to employers about the way to increase employment in the United States, he would get a different version.

We doubt if he can cite one "for instance" where a job was made by adding to an employer's overhead.

Every Inch A Rancher

When President Kennedy talked about agriculture, a subject he always approached with restraint, it was obvious he was city-bred, city-broke and city-committed.

But when President Johnson talks about it, he puts on his Texas boots, his gallant hat and snaps his gaiters, or whatever they wear in Texas to keep them from flying away. He was talking about agriculture last week.

Price-support programs will have to be rejuggled and rejuggled, he said. More foodstuffs must be sold to needy persons abroad. The food-stamp program must be put on a permanent basis. Excess cropland must be retired into other uses, including recreation. There must be more watershed development, rural housing and more attention given to migratory workers. The secretary of agriculture must have more authority to regulate trading in commodity markets.

Farmers must have more aid, in general, and it would be a good idea for Congress to investigate retail merchandising of groceries. The federal government must not be discouraged by such recent rebuffs as losing the wheat referendum last year. It must wade into agriculture up to its hip pockets.

In short, it's 1964, a presidential election coming up and Democrats must make their quadrennial pitch to the farm vote. With a Texas rancher in the White House and hoping to stay there, farmers are about to be smothered with friendship.

By Truman Twill

and perhaps its ablest practitioners, are having to do without their own version of "This Is the Week That Was" until their election is over. BBC didn't think it could carry the flummery of a political campaign and the savagery of TITWTW on the same network. It would have been an explosive mixture.

TO DATE in this country, with few exceptions, satire has been restricted to rarefied precincts of public life populated by old pros—the national capital, which looks forward to the annual Grid-Iron Dinner, when pins are stuck in stuffed shirts, and state capitals in which politicians and newsmen have enough first-name rapport to kid one another.

Elsewhere, satire is risky. Sensitive people take umbrage. They are not tickled. They bleed, and they keep on bleeding. They are not amused. Nor edified. They are hurt. They are offended. Their risibilities are left untouched and their sensibilities are lacerated.

Their sense of propriety is jarred. That emphatic sense of dignity many of them share with pompous figures that waddle and strut on the public stage is affronted.

They see nothing funny about it, by George, and if you want to know what they think they think the scalawags should be horsewhipped. Which probably is what is going to happen. We aren't ready for satire, not as a mass TV audience. Another 100 years maybe.

Byrd Sounds A Warning On The Deficit

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Public debt and private debt are increasing at an alarming rate. The facts are being glossed over or ignored in Washington. Scant attention has been paid to unpleasant truths such as were disclosed in a speech a few days ago by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.

He gave the David Lawrence Senate a comprehensive outline of the deteriorating situation in the finances of the United States government. Certainly under the doctrine of "equal time," Mr. Byrd—as the principal spokesman of the opposition viewpoint and the Senate's Finance Committee chairman—deserves for his arguments equal prominence in the press in relation to the optimistic statements by President Johnson recently in his economic report to Congress.

SEN. BYRD'S speech contains significant facts which, if they continue to go unheeded by governmental policymakers, could cause a worse catastrophe than occurred in the 1930s. Sen. Byrd put it this way:

"The federal deficit last year was $6.3 billion. This year it will be $10 billion. Together, these will become the greatest two-year peacetime deficit in history—totaling $16.3 billion."

"The President, in a most conservative estimate, has said the deficit next year will be $4.9 billion. The combined three-year deficit will total more than $20 billion at the absolute minimum."

"The secretary of the treasury, on Jan. 26, repeated his prediction of still another deficit in fiscal year 1966. And he said there was no reason to expect the federal budget to be balanced again before fiscal year 1967."

"In that event, the federal government of the United States would have indulged itself in six consecutive peacetime deficits totaling upwards of $35 billion. Its budget would not have been balanced since 1960."

"There has been only one other period of as many as six consecutive deficits in the entire peacetime history of this nation. That was in the depression depths of the 1930s."

"The current six deficits are adding some $35 billion to the federal debt. All of the ten depression deficits—1931-1940, inclusive—added $27 billion to the debt."

"The depression deficits of the '30s raised the federal debt from $16 billion to $43 billion. The bigger and faster deficits of the '60s are raising the debt from $286 billion to some $320 billion."

"There is no doubt about the fact that federal taxes are too high. They should be cut. But the hard fact is that the basic reason for federal taxes is to meet federal expenditures."

THE VIRGINIA senator said it is easy to blame war, "cold war" and national defense for the steady rise in federal expenditures, but he declared that "the big increases in spending are in the domestic—civilian programs." He pointed out that, since the Korean War, the federal spending total has increased by more than $30 billion, and that, out of this sum, only $7.5 billion was for military and related activities, such as foreign aid.

Mr. Byrd criticized the oft-repeated reference to the growth of the Gross National Product as an indication of remarkable progress, and said:

"Increasing debt and continuing deficits follow the pattern of economic philosophy which has been dominating federal policy in recent years. Debt is used to increase the so-called Gross National Product. . . .

"State and local debt now appears to be rising at a rate approaching $10 billion a year. . . .

"Federal programs to encourage the use of public credit include those for the insurance and guarantee of private mortgages and loans. . . .

"This debt philosophy has apparently premeated the national economy. Total debt—federal, state and local, corporate, and private—has been increasing at a rate of about $65 billion a year. It now totals more than a trillion dollars. . . .

"Continuing inflation is a reality, and there is no doubt that the danger of spiraling inflation lurks in debt and deficit financing conditions which characterize the nation's economy today."

MR. BYRD, of course, is against the pending tax-reduction bill because he thinks expenditures should first be cut. The senator questioned whether the enactment of such a tax measure at this time would contribute to "sound and constructive progress."

He pointed out that a tax-reduction bill also was passed in 1954 and yet, in the 11 fiscal years since then, net federal deficits have totaled $46.4 billion, "including the budget estimates for this year and next."

The senator therefore contended that, since tax reductions have not stimulated the economy to the point where deficits can be removed, deficit spending has not proved successful.

As for the nation's private debt, the President's economic report of more than 300 pages revealed in one of its statistical tables that the total of private loans amounted to $7.53 billion in 1963, as compared with $330 billion 10 years ago.

THERE HAS been talk recently of increasing interest rates in order to cut down the amount of borrowing, but this proposal has been severely criticized by those who want to continue without restraint the expansion of credit. An indication of how borrowing has risen is contained in the official figures which show that the amount of money required to make payments on the private debt of the individual has gone up from 6 per cent of individual income after taxes in 1946 to 20 per cent last year.

The big question is whether the combination of a substantial increase in the government's debt and an unprecedented rise in individual borrowing contains hazards for the future of the nation's economy and when the impact may be felt.

'I Don't Speak A Word Of Chinese But What You're Saying Doesn't Sound A Bit Like The Agreement We Made.'

Peking Turns Eyes To Puerto Rico

By VICTOR RIESEL
BROWNSVILLE, Tex.

Peking is now quietly attempting to stir up trouble in Puerto Rico. The Chinese Communist apparatus is intent on provoking another Panama in San Juan.

Their Latin American-Chinese "friendship" apparatus leaders are cocky over their success in Brazil where even some of the military have worked with them. They now believe they can infiltrate the Commonwealth of Puerto Rican youths and unionists.

Naturally this infiltration must be accomplished by Spanish-speaking agents who could pass unnoticed among the people of the island. These infiltrators are being trained in Havana in a joint Chinese-Cuban school for sabotage.

This long distance operation of the Peking apparatus is being directed by Hu Huchih and Chou Erh-fu. They are the vice presidents of the China-Latin American Friendship Association, which has its main headquarters in the heart of Peking.

But distance means little. The Chinese Communists have units in Mexico City, Vera Cruz, Rio de Janeiro and, of course, coordinating headquarters on the outskirts of Havana.

IN THE CARIBBEAN the Chinese Communists plan to use the technique which has been so seductively successful elsewhere in Latin America—especially Brazil, Chile and Mexico. They are preparing to seek out Puerto Ricans, particularly youths and unionists, who would grab at free trips and royal entertainment in Peking and Shanghai. Junkies to China have become one of Mao's major weapons against the free nations of Central and South America.

A copy of a letter, fully authenticated from the Peking organization to Puerto Rican groups was made available to me by a source specializing in international counterintelligence operations on the Latin front.

The letter was dated Sept. 23, 1963, and as a joint missive from the Chinese Communist youth and university students' federations.

I make this public as an alert to the good people of Puerto Rico and the leaders of the island groups to which the communication was dispatched. There is no evidence of any reply.

The document went to the "Puerto Rican University Students' Federation for Independence," the youth section of the "Puerto Rican United Patriotic Action party," and the "Federation of Puerto Rican Youth for Independence."

This effort to snare some of the young people into replying so the answer could be exploited in the Communist world radio and press is the first move.

SO THAT the student groups there will be able to recognize the language, if anyone in their midst uses the jargon or starts agitating for creation of committees to go to Peking, I want to quote part of the unusual letter.

"The U.S. imperialists and all the reactionary forces allied with them can never prevent the national liberation movement in Asia, Africa and Latin America from surging irresistibly forward," the letter states.

"We are confident that with the support of the people of the world, the Puerto Rican people, their youth and students, who have strengthened their unity, and persevered in the struggle, will win final victory. The U.S. imperialists will be driven out of Puerto Rico and elsewhere in Latin America."

The letter is filled with attacks on the United States as "criminal" and charges us with "enslaving" the Puerto Rican people.

The Chinese federations urged the Puerto Rican students to campaign for a complete break with the United States and for the "dismantling of U.S. military and atomic bases in Puerto Rico."

THE COMMUNIST communication also championed Albizu Campos—a wild type whose nationalist followers attempted to kill Harry Truman in 1950. Four years later, some of his men invaded the House of Representatives and unloosed gunfire from the balcony onto congressmen below.

From other sources I learn that the Chinese propagandists are particularly disturbed by the new U.S. radio-radar telescope recently completed in Arecibo in the northwestern portion of the island.

It is a magnificent instrument for searching out the galaxy's secrets. Perhaps because it is at a point on the island in the general direction of Cuba, the telescope with a reflecting dish 18½ acres in area, annoys the international Communist apparatus.

It's a development of the Cornell University Advanced Research Projects Agency of the Defense Department, the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Its uses are scientific but that will not stop the Communist agitation.

It's with these wild slogans that the Chinese Communist are attempting to infiltrate the legitimate Puerto Rican independence movement. Now the apparatus stands exposed.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Will you do me and your readers a favor and re-read your own editorial entitled "With Nerves Of Steel" in the Jan. 30 Review.

You say that the "important thing" about the improving steel situation is "confidence"—obviously meaning that steel management has confidence in the continuing prosperity of the nation which is being led by a progressive Democratic administration.

You are so right and I will overlook your usual inability to discuss the steel industry without some kind of snide innuendo directed at the United Steelworkers (I refer to your comment about senseless strikes and obsolescent labor practices). But how are you going to reconcile your own opinion as expressed in this editorial with the arguments you will surely make urging your readers to change this administration as soon as your Reactionary Party (Republican) decides who is to be the man (or woman) to lead the country back to the "horse and buggy days"?

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Since when do you change your school colors because your band gets bigger and the old uniforms no longer fit?

I am talking about South Side High School in Hookstown.

I heard about this recently and was really shocked to hear that the band members and student body didn't say anything about it.

As most people in the area know, South Side's colors have been black and white since it opened eight years ago. Well, if you see the band march anywhere now, you'll never know it belongs to South Side. The new uniforms are blue and cream.

Do you band members really feel right when you wear them? Think what you will feel like next football season when our boys go on the field in black and white uniforms and then at half-time you march out in blue and cream ones. Will you feel you're proud to be in the band, you won't.

The school colors were picked by the student body when the school opened and up until now there have been no complaints. Are you going to let them be changed every time you need more uniforms?

When you come off the field next year don't be surprised if people ask you what school you're from.

A very disappointed former band member.

Board Given '63 Survey

Continuous Study Seen Necessary In Curriculum

A study of the Class of 1962 of East Liverpool High School was presented to the Board of Education Monday night with the indication that a continuous study must be made of the high school curriculum to make certain it meets the needs of the students.

Two more students entered full-time work than enrolled in college, and only slightly more than 37 per cent of the 277 graduates are taking some type of additional educational training, the report showed.

BY IMPLICATION, the study calls for a close look at what the school system offers students, particularly those who do not continue their education.

Compiled by Asst. Supt. George Hargraves, the brief but thorough report is broken down by both boys and girls along with totals and percentages for the class. A comparison also is made with the 1962 class.

The basic purpose of the study was to provide information that will be useful for the administration and teachers in studying the curriculum, Hargraves pointed out.

"To me it simply means that primarily we are not a college preparatory institution," Hargraves remarked.

The assistant superintendent explained some previous studies resulted in additions to the curriculum along vocational lines.

THEY INCLUDED inauguration of a diversified co-operative training program last year in which seniors receive on-the-job training, launching an industrial drafting course this year, and a mathematics course for seniors who do not intend to pursue their education further.

Only a comparative few students are involved in the DCT and drafting programs but "it is a step in the right direction," Hargraves said.

The study traces the 129 boys and 148 girls. Thirty girls and 18 boys simply vanished as far as the report is concerned but Hargraves said he had to assume they are not enrolled in college.

By including college, technical school, business college, nurses' training and beauty schools, 37.6 per cent of the class is receiving further education. Thirty four per cent of the boys and 40 1/2 per cent of the girls are taking additional education training.

FORTY BOYS and 31 girls or 25.6 per cent of the class are enrolled in college while 39 boys and 34 girls are engaged in full-time work, a percentage of 26.3.

The other areas include four in technical school, 14 in business college, 10 in nurses' training, three in beauty school, 10 are homemakers, five are employed part-time, 22 are in the service, 15 are unemployed, two are taking post-graduate courses at the high school and there is insufficient information on the remaining 48.

The 71 students who entered college are attending 29 different colleges in 11 states scattered from New York to California. Fifteen are at Ohio State University and 13 at Kent State University.

A comparison of the 1962 and 1963 classes shows a few more attending college and more employed full-time in 1963 than in 1962. Fewer 1963 members entered the service than in 1962.

ONE OF THE surprising figures in the study of the 1962 class revealed that 25 per cent of the class entered the armed forces. In 1963, about 16 per cent went into the service.

The study showed only a minor change in the two years for the students who continued with some type of educational training. There were 34.7 per cent of the boys in 1962 against 34.2 per cent in 1963 while 41.6 per cent of the girls in the 1962 class continued their education against 40.5 last year.

The overall total was 38.5 per cent of the 1962 class continued against 37.6 per cent for the last class.

Hargraves explained a book has been established for the 1963 class with a page for each student. Future information will be recorded in the book and an attempt will be made to again study the class five years after graduation.

George Perrault of Salem will be the toastmaster for the annual Republican Lincoln Day dinner Feb. 11 at Beaver Local High School.

Allen J. Dalrymple of Wells-ville will introduce the speaker, Dr. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, according to Atty. Charles Pike, Columbiana County Republican chairman.

Dr. Judd is a world-traveled medical missionary who also served in the House of Representatives for 20 years. A total of 20 universities and colleges have conferred honorary doctorate degrees on Dr. Judd. In a congressional poll in 1962, he was voted by his colleagues in the house one of its five most influential members, the only one so named from the minority party.

Dinner tickets may be obtained from all Republican precinct committeemen and club officers, Pike said.

Increase Sought For Court Clerk

Wilbur J. Harmon, Municipal Court clerk, asked Council Monday night in a letter to boost his salary from about $3,700 to $6,500 to put it on a par with similar posts in other Ohio cities.

Harmon cited the salaries paid clerks in other Municipal Courts. They ranged from $6,000 in Alliance to $10,500 in Parma. He pointed out the city pays 60 per cent of the clerk's salary and the county pays the balance.

His pay at present out of city funds is $2,700, or $1,500 less than a janitor draws at City Hall, he said.

In the new rate, he asked a $3,900 payment from the city and $2,600 from the county. Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., finance committee chairman, said the request already is under study by his committee.

4th Civic Music Event

Baritone's Concert Seen 'Superb'; Crowd Hits 400

By ARLETTA HELFRICH
Leslie Guinn, New York City baritone, presented the fourth concert of the Civic Music Association's current season Sunday afternoon at Westgate Auditorium. Approximately 400 attended.

From the onset of the exceptional concert, which included several of the predominant forms of vocal literature, performed in four languages, until the final notes of his second encore, Guinn provided his listeners with a superb musical treat.

His vibrant personal magnetism complemented by excellent stage presence enhanced his creative artistry. He is capable of producing a large warm body of tone and executing difficult technical phrases with flawless dignity.

His capacity for projecting the moods of his selections and the exquisite phrasing of the text prevailed throughout the performance.

The aria, "Ombra Mai Fu," from Handel's opera, "Xerxes," which opened the program, demonstrated the wide range and conceptive tonal imagery of the artist.

The exacting discipline required of the performer in Schubert's "Lieder" was effectively projected in the four selections comprising the second portion of the program. From the beautiful legato spinning phrases of the "Ständchen" into the swift and demanding "Ungeduld," Guinn sang with ease and control phrases many tenors would consider difficult.

The Recitative and Aria from Verdi's "Masked Ball" and the Ravel "Chansons" were sung with complete vocal mastery.

From the English dialogue of Lord Randall through the spiritual, "Sing Aho," and into the sea chanteys of Celius Daugherty, Guinn wove a picturesque pattern of tone through his perfect diction and intelligent interpretations.

The program concluded with Wagner's "Song to the Evening Star."

Homer Wickline of Pittsburgh provided the impeccable piano accompaniments. His sensitive contribution was a definite aid to the soloist. It is interesting to note that these two professional artists did not know one another until they met for a rehearsal on Saturday, yet their complete ensemble would lead one to believe that many hours of practice together had preceded the performance.

Guinn encored, to the delight of his appreciative audience with "Old Mother Hubbard," in the style of George Frederic Handel but actually composed by Victor Kely Hutchinson, and "I've Got Plenty of Nuttin'" from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Guinn's performance was a thrilling high point of the season.

It provides that traffic controls will not be installed without prior approval of the state. It also stipulates that no signs, posters, billboards, roadside stands or other private installations will be permitted within the right-of-way.

Councilman James Cunningham said several persons have told him they fear the new stretch will be dangerous because of the three lanes. He said he understands there will be two lanes inbound and one outbound in morning rush hours and two lanes outbound and one lane inbound in the evening rush. If such an arrangement is followed, it will add to hazards, he said.

He also said he does not believe the city should be deprived of the right to install signals when it feels they are needed.

Councilman Floyd Murray agreed with Cunningham, declaring the city will need traffic lights and police protection on the new stretch.

Councilman Donald Hancock pointed out the stipulation on signals is in every such ordinance on a city-state highway job.

"But we never have had any difficulty establishing a light where it was needed," he said.

Council President George Willshaw reiterated Hancock's explanation. Then the legislation was passed unanimously.

Confirming a prior agreement between the city and the county, Council enacted an ordinance providing that if any part of the $75,000 furnished by the commissioners is not required, it will be refunded to the county.

ted districts with property reappraisals made in 1962 to spread the losses over two years. Thus Beaver Local, which expected to be cut back $28,000, had the losses delayed and assigned to later allotments, board officials explained.

Consequently, only 5 mills would be needed in 1965 to maintain the school operations and provide pay bostots.

The board discussed a current 2-mill levy which expires this year, and agreed tentatively to place a proposed renewal on the November general election ballot. It would be for 1.6 mills, cut back due to the reappraisal, in order to bring in the same amount of money as required by law.

In other action, the board adopted an appropriation measure for 1964 — including $737,403 for the general fund, about $15,061 less than the total spent or encumbered in 1963, Harry Greenwood, board clerk, said.

Cafeteria expenses will be about $90,977, up $400 from last year, and bond retirement will be $89,505, down from the $91,426 of last year.

The board authorized borrowing of some $28,000 to meet the February payroll in event the state foundation money does not arrive before Feb. 25.

The board discussed the failure of county officials to provide advances of school tax revenue money in order to prevent borrowing of money, with payment of 4 per cent interest on such loans.

The purchase of a National Cash Register machine in the clerk's office, leased for about five years, was approved. The equipment will be bought for $890, saving over the $1,100 which would be charged this year for lease and maintenance. Previous lease payments are credited against the cost.

A letter was authorized for the Ohio Department of Taxation urging action on an effort by county officials to collect overdue personal property taxes reportedly owned by the Tassi Coal Co.

Action on appointing two trustees for the Kent University Center at Salem was tabled until Feb. 17 in order to survey prospective appointees.

A former school bus shelter structure at Griggs Bridge was sold to Jim Manley for $5. A new shelter has been erected.

The board renewed its membership in the Ohio School Boards Association.

Additional damage was reported at the Rogers School Addition hit by a heat explosion in January, and insurance representatives are to inspect the damage — such as tile in the kitchen — this week.

Some of the classrooms are again in use in the addition, but the kitchen may not be restored to operation until March.

Commissioners William C. Graham and Robert E. Roach said they had come to a conclusion that the reason for the unclean conditions is that the custodian has been spending much time traveling on county business, and had no time to attend to his regular duties.

THE commissioners said Williams does errands for them, and other county officials, and also makes trips to the Courthouse annex, Children's Home

Courthouse Dirt?

Hancock Custodian Questioned

Complaints of unclean conditions at the Hancock County Courthouse — cited by a petit jury in a letter presented Circuit Court Judge James G. McClure last Wednesday — were debated by county commissioners and Sherwin Williams, custodian, Monday in New Cumberland.

Commissioner James Finley of Weirton summoned the custodian before County Court and declared "It is disgraceful when a jury criticizes County Court in front of the judge of Circuit Court" and a lengthy debate followed.

THE LETTER condemning "dirty" conditions of the Courthouse was presented Judge McClure by Mrs. Mary Rodak of Weirton, foreman of a petit jury in a civil case.

Williams, whose salary is $500 monthly, explained he had cleaned the jury rooms and Courthouse Saturday, Jan. 25, and didn't feel the quarters needed cleaned again for the jury trial on Monday, Jan. 27.

But strong winds on a weekend blew dirt around the windows and into the jury quarters, Williams explained.

One section of the letter said, "As one of the richest counties in the state, there is certainly no reason for this condition. The condition of the Hancock County Courthouse is appalling and a disgrace to the taxpayers."

COMMISSIONER Finley questioned the custodian on his reported expenses of $75.95 for January, when the custodian reported he traveled 1,100 miles on county business.

In a further check of the records, Finley said, he found the custodian's expenses were "running high, 60 to 70 miles a day." The county pays 7 cents a mile to employees for expenses of driving while on official business.

Commissioners William C. Graham and Robert E. Roach said they had come to a conclusion that the reason for the unclean conditions is that the custodian has been spending much time traveling on county business, and had no time to attend to his regular duties.

THE commissioners said Williams does errands for them, and other county officials, and also makes trips to the Courthouse annex, Children's Home and dog pound for various repairs.

Williams declared he had never refused to complete an errand for any county official, or anyone who asked him to fulfill a job. He also explained he is called on for trips to the Bank of Weirton for the assessor and county clerk, to the freight station in Steubenville, and to business places in Chester and Weirton.

Commissioner Finley moved that Williams be directed to remain in the Courthouse to attend to his duties, but it died for lack of a second.

But Commissioner Roach said "restrictions must be worked out so Williams will not have to leave as often as in the past."

THE LETTER from the petit jury cited the need for painting and installation of new lavatories on the third floor, and repairs to the women's restrooms in the basement.

Pointing out such general repairs would mean an expense of $40,000 to $50,000, Commissioner Graham said there is no funds to undertake the job this year. But the Courthouse will be kept clean, he said. "I'm not against Williams, I'm just asking that the Courthouse be clean. If he can't keep it clean, get someone who can," Commissioner Finley said.

Another part of the letter said "It is being disrespectful and discourteous to ask a human being to use the restroom facilities in the condition now present in the Courthouse." It said dust on the window sills in the lavatory is one-fourth inch thick. The letter had been signed by all 12 jurors.

Bell Opposed In Committee Race Of GOP

George W. Crim of Bergholz filed today with the County Election Board to oppose Robert M. Bell of Steubenville, the incumbent, for election as Republican State Central Committeeman from the five-county 18th Congressional District in the primaries May 5.

Bell announced a month ago for a new term. He has served since 1960, succeeding Judge Carl A. Weinman. The district includes Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll Counties.

Meanwhile, three new county candidates filed — confirming previous announcements — and three additional candidates filed as 18th District delegates and alternates to the Democratic National Convention, which will pick the party's contenders for President and vice president.

Entering for convention delegates were Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, for delegate, and Maurice Rappaport of East Liverpool and Atty. Guy J. Mauro of Salem, for alternates.

Another candidate for district delegate filed Friday. He is Frank Vannelle of Bellaire, Belmont County Democratic chairman. All are pledged to Albert S. Porter of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, as a "favorite son" candidate for the presidency.

The new county filings raised the total to 22.

The entries are Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana and County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge of Lisbon, both Democratic incumbents, and Samuel B. Webber, 565 Broadview Circle, for the GOP nomination for commissioner. All three had announced their candidacies earlier.

The filing deadline is Wednesday at 4 p. m.

At Tomlinson Run Park Commissioners Oppose Hancock Camp Rate Hike

Hancock County commissioners went on record Monday as protesting an increase of camping fees at Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown by the state.

The rates were doubled to $4 a week for each camper, and the action also drew complaints from the Hancock County 4-H Leaders Association earlier.

In a letter to County Court, Kermit McKeever, chief of the State Parks Division, said the fee increase is to make Tomlinson Run's rates comparable to other parks in West Virginia.

Arnold Anderson, county assessor, was named to a one-year term on the Board of Trustees of the County Children's Home as Clay District representative.

A special meeting was set Feb. 21 at 7 p. m. with James Ravoira, county Republican chairman, and Dick Wright, Democratic leader, to map out voting wards in Weirton.

Mrs. Mary Stewart, county clerk, was authorized to hire extra help to aid in completing the voter registration books.

Commissioners authorized purchase of a desk for the tax office at $218.75, a typewriter for the Circuit Court office for $191, and a foam rubber runner mat for the county clerk for $72.50.

James Finley, Weirton commissioner, protested the payment of more than $500 in overtime to five salaried employees in the assessor's office. The payments were approved by Commissioners William C. Graham and Robert E. Roach.

Miriam F. Corcoran of Chester and Evelyn Springer of New Cumberland were among those whose applications as notaries public were approved.

Cuba, Missile Crisis Reports Due Sunday

Originally NBC was slated to televise its two "White Paper" reports, "Cuba: the Bay of Pigs" and "Cuba: the Missile Crisis," on Dec. 8 and Jan. 5.

But the events of Nov. 22 changed all that; an evaluation of some crucial decisions by an incumbent president had to become, in a sense, a post mortem.

THE TWIN documentaries, each a full hour, now will show up, spaced five days apart, on our TV screens tonight ("Bay of Pigs") and next Sunday ("Missile Crisis"). Both programs will begin at 10 p.m. on Channel 3.

Chet Huntley's narration of the original reports, executive producer Irving Gitlin was telling me last week had to be re-recorded in view of John Kennedy's assassination.

"Then, too," Gitlin went on, "new facts came along and we had to 'open up' the show several times.

Administration leaders have given us fresh information on the missile thing; and we've gathered a whole range of new inside stuff on the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

"WE'VE GOT an especially important report on that period just before the invasion force hit the beach: the decisions regarding air cover. With that we're sure to make news."

NBC News, Gitlin was reminded, was thrown out of Moscow as a result of Irving Gitlin's twin documentaries of Stalin's fall and Khrushchev's rise to power. Did he now expect to be thrown out of Washington?

"I don't think we will," he said, grinning. "We've had a good measure of cooperation down there since the death of JFK."

"The subjects, of course, are highly charged, politically sensitive; and it's been difficult for us to take a cool, sober, accurate look at both crises. The facts until now have been terribly muddy. As a result, parts of our report may be very unpleasant — almost unbelievable — to some people."

"BUT THAT'S the way it is. We're not selling intellectual treatises; but we don't leave any loose ends either."

For nine months, Gitlin said, the NBC News Creative Projects people dug out every scrap of information that was available "outside of security restrictions."

Recently, with the opening up of Washington sources, Gitlin found that the "full story" was a thorough confirmation of the original reports.

"From the beginning we thought we were right," said Gitlin. "Now we know we are."

THE THEME of the reports, according to their executive producer, is Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's "doctrine of usable power" — or, in Gitlin's words, "when you sock him and when you don't sock him."

The Bay of Pigs decision, he said, began well back in President Eisenhower's administration ("which people tend to forget") and was a "tough go," no matter what its consequences.

"Even if the thing had succeeded," Gitlin feels, "it was bound to mean plenty of trouble, and for a long time."

From far-flung sources, NBC News has rounded up films of the Cubans-in-exile training in Guatemala, of their approach to the Bay of Pigs in landing craft, of the landing and of the first encounter.

(An eyewitness describes it thus: Invader to sentry: "We have come to free Cuba!" Sentry to invader: "Long Live Fidel Castro!")

But throughout, Gitlin insists, the account is detached and coolly factual.

"I THINK John Kennedy would have wanted it this way: he was a historian and a realist. In a sense, he's taken more than his share of the blame for the Bay of Pigs" — and (Gitlin hinted) not enough of the congratulations for his victory in the missile crisis.

Gitlin — currently at work on future "White Paper" reports and on the "Show of the Week" profiles of Harlem's controversial Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and the tragedy-prone high-wire troupe, the Great Wallendas — obviously is pleased with his Cuba programs.

"For nine months," he said, "we had a team go dig, dig, dig. Historians can't do this sort of thing in just this way. It takes people, time, and lots of money."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Curtains on a budget? My bedroom has two windows: one on each end of the wall.

I had several old chenille bedspreads with a border design down each side and across the bottom. I made cafe curtains out of them for our bedroom.

They are darling.

I cut the bedspreads straight up the middle and sewed the two ends together thus making darling cafe type curtains with the border covering the wall from window-to-window!

The draperies are about 42 inches long and all I had to do was purchase a long brass cafe rod and some rings to set it off.

One could either use their spreads as is, or dye it to match their rugs or decor.

YOU DON'T have to hem the bottom of these chenille spreads as it is already finished and therefore, all that is required is to turn the top down (to make a heading) and hem each cut side under one inch. Run the curtain rod through the heading and presto... "professionally" made curtains in a jiffy!

The compliments have been enormous and several neighbors have now bought new spreads to make their own curtains.

MRS. G. H. I.

Never thought of making cafe curtains from spreads by turning them sideways! No washing or ironing either, eh? Thanks.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Can you or any of your readers tell me how I can clean my sink and bathtub to rid them of a yellow ring? I've used all kinds of cleaners and bleaches but they do no good. I just moved into this apartment.

HELP!

Honey, I feel that this is something that could be removed with a liquid rust remover. There are many brands on the market. Though I am sure you do not believe the yellow ring is rust... and it probably is not... these rust removers will remove the discoloration.

You will find there are no directions on the bottle for this use. Wipe the sink dry with a paper towel, squirt the liquid rust remover on it (if you cannot possibly buy liquid rust remover, the paste type will do, but it is not nearly as good), let it stay until the yellow stains leave. Then wash well with some good old soap suds.

I know you will be pleased.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My mother keeps her waffle iron from sticking by taking two pieces of bread and covering them on both sides with unsalted shortening.

Then she puts the pieces of bread on the waffle iron and shuts the lid. When the bread is crusty and the oil has seeped into the iron she just removes it and discards it — then pours on the batter and her waffles never stick.

ANNA L.

Anna — Tell your mother I said to give you a great big kiss ("X"). We all love you for writing.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When baking your potatoes in foil... try pricking the potatoes first and if you like onion or garlic taste, sprinkle them with onion or garlic salt or powder (I use both) and rubbing it in after greasing it with bacon fat! The seasoned garlic salt will absorb into the potato while baking and wow... .

When you open the foil, it's mighty mouth watering. Full of aroma.

LOYAL.

T-H-A-N-K You! I just made an "onion - potato" by your method! It is terrific.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A friend of mine bought some small bowls with the price tabs on the inside of the bowls...

When the tabs were pulled off they left the glue on the bowl. Everything they tried failed to take off the glue stuff.

I suggested taking a small strip of cellophane tape, pressing it firmly on the glue marks, then pulling it off. The glue came off with the tape, leaving the bowl bright and clean. Try it, it works!

MRS. E. P. HENDERSON.

Yes, it does and thank you, Mrs. Henderson.

HELOISE.

Radio And $94 Taken From East End Home

An East End man told police at 3:40 a.m. today a new transistor radio and $94 in cash were stolen from his home sometime in a 12-hour interval Monday.

George Harty, 307 1/2 Virginia Ave., said his home was entered by unknown means sometime between noon and midnight. The stolen money includes two $20 bills, a $50 and four $1's, he told police. He did not fix the value of the radio.

Bus, Auto Hit; Officer Cites LaCroft Man

A 53-year-old LaCroft motorist was cited after a collision between his auto and a bus Monday at 5:38 p.m. at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts., police said.

The mishap involved a 1955 four-door sedan operated by Wendell O. Coble of 8th Ave. and a 1955 model bus of the City Transit System operated by Lewis Govey, 37, of Pennsylvania Ave. The right front of each vehicle was damaged.

Patrolman L. E. Richard, who witnessed the crash, cited Coble on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Pleading guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Coble was fined $15 and costs. Coble said he was on old W. 8th St. waiting for the traffic light to change so that he could cross the four-lane section of W. 8th St. and proceed up Jefferson St. When the light changed, he pulled out and did not see the bus until the impact, he said.

The bus was traveling west on W. 8th St. Govey said he went through a green light and saw Coble stopped at the intersection. As he neared the auto, Coble pulled into his path, he said.

In an unusual mishap, two backing vehicles collided Monday at the intersection of Edgewood Ave. and May St.

Involved were a 1960 truck operated by James J. Maloney, 55, of 1040 Edgewood Ave. and Mrs. Susan A. Harding, 43, of 1011 May St.

Both drivers told police they didn't see anything until they collided.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Help!! My boss was blessed with his first grandchild eight weeks ago. He is also an inveterate camera bug. This can be a horrible combination.

Almost every day the beaming boss hands me several dozen snapshots of the baby and waits for my comments. It is downright exhausting to try to think of something to say, because, as you know, Ann, every infant under 4 or 5 months of age looks like a meatball.

To make matters worst, the boss is a pretty lousy photographer and the baby is unusually ratlike in appearance.

Several others in this office have been similarly trapped by the boss. We would all appreciate some practical advice on what to do. Thank you. — VICTIM NO. 1.

Dear Vic: By the time the second grandchild comes along the boss will be using less film and taking up less office time. For now there is little you can do except perhaps hand him a few dozen snapshots of your last trip. If you haven't had a trip recently, pictures of the nation's capital will do.

One of the nice things about children is that they seldom carry pictures of their grandparents.

Too Much Family

Dear Ann: I married into a family of three brothers and two sisters. All the boys are in business with their father. The two girls' husbands are in the business, too. The mother in this family tells them all what to do.

This togetherness stuff looks very good to outsiders. My mother-in-law is always bragging about how well they all get along. I know differently, but of course I wouldn't dare say anything because I'd wind up with my head in my hands. Three of the boys have ulcers and two suffer from migraine headaches.

Last week my husband told me he wants to buy a triplex with two of his brothers. He says they could all save on transportation by riding to and from work together. They could split up the yard work, and repair jobs.

I don't like the idea because these two brothers argue a lot and my husband is always in the middle. My husband is sure he can handle it. What do you say? — MAZIE.

Dear Mazie: I say no and I hope you'll continue to say no, too. You didn't say whether your husband had the ulcers or the migraines, but if he becomes part of a "round-the-clock triplet act he probably will end up with both.

Roamin' Romeo

Dear Ann: My fiance is a traveling salesman who spends about a fourth of his time on the road.

Jerry calls me on the phone when he can, but usually he sends daily post cards. He types these cards on the old beat-up machines he carries with him to do his sales reports.

Lately he's been making some strange typing errors and I wonder if he makes them on purpose.

Last week he wrote, "You are not only a sweetheart but a fiend." On that same card he had an interesting P.S.: "My brother Harry said you will make a great little wife and the beast is yet to come."

Today's card threw me. He wrote: "Miami is a great spot. I wish you were here."

Do you think this means anything? — QUEENIE.

Dear Queenie: Yes, I think it means your fiance is a needle artist who has found an old joke book. Forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

An East Liverpool man was granted probation on forgery and a Youngstown man was sentenced when he pleaded guilty to larceny and burglary Monday before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon.

Kenneth Wright, 22, of 713 Garner Ave. was placed on probation for five years for passing a fraudulent check.

Combis changed his pleas to guilty on all counts and asked probation investigation, but Judge Buzzard refused the request due to his past record. However, he may serve all the sentences concurrently at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Combis was also indicted for burglary of the Salem Cycle Shop but he denied he was involved in this case and it is expected it will be dismissed.

McKinley, Dayton Continue To Run 1st, 2nd In Voting

By FRITZ HOWELL, Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Last week was a tough one for some of Ohio's highly touted high school basketball teams, but when the shooting was over Canton McKinley and Celina Immaculate Conception continued to pace the scholastic cagers as they headed toward tournament time.

Immaculate Conception, the Class A leader in the Associated Press poll since the start, survived a 72-66 loss to Parkway to stay atop the smaller school division by a narrow margin over Zanesville Rosecrans. The Celina school has an 18-1 record, coming back from the loss to belt Ayersville 77-59.

Canton McKinley trimmed Akron South 78-63 for the 15th Bulldog conquest, and second-ranked Dayton Belmont swamped Dayton Wilbur Wright 98-46, but Akron North and Cleveland East, third and fourth last week, were spilled for the first time.

Akron North was a 70-60 victim of Akron East and fell to ninth, while Cleveland East skidded to fifth after being nosed out 54-53 by Cleveland East Tech.

East Tech's victory put the Scarabs in eighth place, and Massillon's thrice-beaten Tigers—who meet McKinley this week—eased into 10th as Canton Lincoln and Youngstown Liberty fell from the elite list.

Lone change in Class A's Top Ten came when Dresden Jefferson's defending state champions dropped out and Brilliant's 16-game winners took over the ninth position.

From here and there: Paul Walker, the genius who has coached Middletown to four state titles, won his 350th game Friday as the Middies defeated Lima 68-44. The Butler County team, always tough in tournament play, is coming on strong after a shaky start.

Gail Scarbrough of Grove Hill (Paulding County) came up with 67 points in the 103-95 victory over Oakwood. And Dave Shindollar of Mendon-Union has a 34-point average in a 12-4 season—which could be the best point production in the state.

Phil Argento, Cleveland West's 6-foot guard, set a Cleveland area record with a 66-point spree in a 102-66 romp over Cleveland South. That hiked his average to 31.5 and erased the one-game mark of 59 set in 1946 by Mike Medich of Benedictine. Cleveland Rhodes (15-0) won its first West Senate title with a 103-70 rout of Cleveland Lincoln.

Captain Fred Lentz of Newark's seventh-rated Wildcats is deadly from the free throw line. He's cashed his last 23 without a miss. The game between Zanesville Rosecrans and Newark Catholic was postponed from last Saturday to tonight and moved from the 900-seat Newark gym to Denison University's field house where 2,800 may vie the clash.

Joe Prats of Mansfield Senior has scored 24 or more in five of the last six. Jim Miller of Ashland was inserted into the reserve game against Tiffin Columbian in the final quarter, made 14 of 16 charity tosses, and Ashland won 50-40.

That Canton McKinley-Massillon game Friday in Canton's Memorial Auditorium should be a dilly. The Bulldogs won by a single point the last time they met. Massillon ended New Philadelphia's 10-game winning streak Saturday, and Fred Pierce got 14 points to set a Massillon three-year record of 698. Gary Westfall had 693 from 1956 through 1958. Pierce underwent heart surgery between his sophomore and junior years but played end for the Tiger grid-ers last fall.

Hamilton Garfield made 26 straight free throws in the 77-60 victory over Hamilton Taft, its crosstown rival.

Wildcats Notch 700th Win For Rupp

By BOB GREEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Like any good Kentucky col-onel, Adolph Rupp had a couple of kind words to say about the South.

"One of my greatest satisfac-tions is seeing the South — once the laughing stock of the nation in basketball — now respect-able and with teams rated among the top ten nationally."

Rupp made the observation Monday night after his Ken-tucky Wildcats knocked off Georgia 103-83 and, 1, took over sole possession of the South-eastern Conference lead; 2, pro-vided Rupp with his 700th coaching victory and 3, prompted him to do a bit of reflecting.

Ohio State Edges Michigan, 86-85

Southern basketball was, as Rupp observed in pretty sad shape when he took over the Kentucky reins as a 29-year-old coach.

But that was some 33 years, four national championships and 700 victories ago.

In that time, under the leader-ship of Rupp and Kentucky, the Southland has emerged as one of the nation's strongest basket-ball areas.

Proof? Look at the national rankings. Four of the nation's top ten come from the South; No. 3 Kentucky, No. 5 Davidson, No. 7 Duke and No. 8 Vander-bilt.

Both Kentucky and Vanderbilt protected those high ratings Monday, Vandy with a 111-73 romp over Alabama but second-ranked Michigan had its trou-bles.

The Wolverines, the only other ranked team in action, was edged out by Ohio State 86-85. It was Michigan's first loss in the Big Ten and only the second de-feat in 17 starts for the Wolver-ines.

Ohio State trailed by nine points three times in the first half but rallied for an 81-73 lead with three minutes to go. The Wolverines closed to within one before time ran out.

The Buckeyes' Gary Bradds sparked their upset effort with 42 points.

In Athens, Ga., site of Rupp's first loss as a Kentucky coach Feb. 13, 1931, Cotton Nash and Ted Deeken led the charge for No. 700. Nash tossed in 33 points and Deeken added 29 as the Wildcats moved to a 16-2 over-all record.

Vanderbilt, upset by Auburn over the weekend, bounced back against Alabama. The Commodores had eight players scoring in double figures, led by Clyde Lee with 15. The 111-point total represented the most points ever scored against an Alabama team.

In some of the other major games, Kansas State had to go to overtime to beat Nebraska 73-66, Nick Werkman scored 41 points and led Seton Hall to a 110-86 romp over Wagner, Colo-rado upset Oklahoma State 63-59 and gained a share of the Big Eight lead, while Washington of St. Louis put on a fantastic sec-ond half shooting show, hitting 16 of 21 attempts from the floor, in a 75-68 conquest of Drake.

Uncle Pete's was well on its way to the century mark in spilling Chester VFW, 93-67, to remain in a first place tie with George Bright's in the City Bas-ketball League after Monday night's action.

Pete's and Bright's have won three straight with Bright's claiming an easy 76-44 victory over Robert's Sunoco. In one other game, the Tri-State Reds, which hold second place, cap-tured their second win in three outings by dumping Bloor's Pharmacy, 75-46.

Uncle Pete's showed five cag-ers in the double figures and jumped out to a 44-30 halftime lead. Franklin Jackson paced the co-leaders with 23 points. Bud Ceneviva added 15 while John Martin and Pick Rolley scored 14 each and Sid Winland added 13.

Dave Bell was the big gun again for the Chester VFW, sizzling the nets for 26 points.

Bright's got off to a slow start but then went into high gear to assume a 40-26 halftime edge. Bright's two big boys, Bevo

UCLA Voted To Top Spot In College Hoop Listing

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten UCLA, only major college basketball team with a perfect record, remained in the No. 1 position today in the week-ly Associated Press poll.

The UCLA Bruins drew 43 first place votes among the 49 cast by the panel of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters. The six other writers ranked them second.

Defeats of Davidson, Vander-bilt and DePaul shook up the Top Ten but nobody was knocked out. Davidson dropped from third to fifth after losing its first game to West Virginia 75-73. Vanderbilt tumbled from fifth to eighth after bowing to Auburn 81-63. DePaul slipped one rung to 10th after losing to Louisville 83-79.

East Junior 8th Graders Beaten At Salem, 51-46

The East Junior High eighth grade team dropped its second game in eight starts losing a 51-46 decision at Salem.

Ross and Kenst led Salem with 11 and 10 points respec-tively while Bruce Christian scored 17 and Mitchell Jones and Dave Pridemore tallied nine each in a losing cause.

East meets rival Westgate Wednesday afternoon at West-gate.

Illinois has the best record among Big Ten basketball teams. The Illini have won 430 games, lost 283.

Michigan remained in second place by boosting its record to 15-1 with a 95-79 romp over Michigan State. UCLA, however rolled over the Santa Barbara branch of the University of Cal-ifornia in two games to make it 17-0 for the year. Michigan drew five firsts but trailed UCLA in points 484-429.

Kentucky advanced a peg to third at 15-2 on a victory over Florida and Wichita whipped both Cincinnati and Marquette for a 16-3 record and moved up from seventh to fourth. Fifth-place Davidson bounced back from its first defeat and clob-bered VMI 129-91.

Villanova held tight to sixth by downing American University and Detroit. Duke moved up to seventh on victories over South Carolina and Navy. Vanderbilt, in eighth place, was pursued closely by Chicago Loyola, which won three games during the week over Dayton, Western Michigan and Iowa.

All records were based on games played through Saturday, Feb. 1.

Bill To Up Race Tax In W. Va. Defeated

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—The Senate Finance Committee Mon-day killed a House-passed bill to increase taxes paid by horse race tracks.

The bill would have restored the tax on pari-mutuel betting cut to 5% per cent last year, to the former 6-per-cent rate. It also would have raised the track license fee from $250 to $500 per day of racing.

Sets New Record For Speed Event

By TED SMITS, Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Terry McDermott, a barber from Essexville, Mich., cracked the Soviet Union's long-time speed skating monopoly and won the first gold medal for the United States with a 500-meter victory today in the ninth Win-ter Olympic Games.

The 23-year-old former Michi-gan Tech student, who clips hair and shaves customers in his dad's barber shop, trimmed one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record by flashing the 546.8 yards in 40.1 seconds.

The record had been set at Cortina, Italy, in 1956 by the Soviet Union's Eugeny Grishnin, who finished in a triple tie for second with another Russian, Vladimir Orlov, and Alv Gjest-vang of Norway, all clocked in 40.6.

McDermott outsped 43 skaters from 19 countries in giving the United States its first speed skating medal since 1952, when Ken Henry won the 500.

The medal was the third for the United States, with a silver and a bronze won previously by spunky Jean Saubert of Lake-view, Ore., in the ladies' giant slalom and slalom on the skiing slopes of Lizum Valley.

Earlier, a skiing marksman from the Soviet Union, Vladimir Melanin, won the tough biathlon test and Germans dominated both the men's and women's in-dividual events in tobogganing, a new Olympic event.

Also, Scotty Allen, the 15-year-old schoolboy from Smoke Rise, N.J., held fourth place in the men's figure skating competi-tion, still being contested, and Monty Hoyt of Denver remained among the leading contenders.

The Russians, with two med-als in the biathlon and two sil-vers in the 500-meter speed skating tie, boosted their total to 19 — more than twice that of second place Germany, with 8.

Just when it seemed as if the United States would be shut out of any first places in the Games, McDermott uncorked a superb race to overtake the three lead-ers.

Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., knowing he had to do 40.6 or better to stand any chance of a medal — only just missed it. He was clocked in 40.9.

Tom Gray of Bloomington, the other American entrant, did 41.5.

The Germans finished 1-2-3 in the men's tobogganing—known as luge in Europe—and 1-2 in the women's, with the bronze medal going to Austria.

The luge is a small sled, little more than a wooden plank and two iron runners, on which Eu-ropean children slide down snow banks.

The Olympic luge track for men measures 1,100 yards with 18 tricky, hairpin bends. An un-seasoned thaw made the track almost unusable Monday but an overnight freeze made it light-ning fast.

Thomas Koehler of Germany, a 23-year-old student, won the men's individual tobogganing title by sweeping down the course four times in 3 minutes, 26.77 seconds.

His teammate, Klaus Michael Bonsack, a locksmith, regis-tered 3:27.04, with the best time of all on his final run of 52.42 seconds. Hans Plenk made it a sweep in 3:30.15.

The women's luge title went to Ortnu Enderlein, 24-year-old who shot down the course four times in a total of 3 minutes, 24.67.

Ilse Geisler, a teammate, was second in 3:27.42 followed by He-lene Thurner, a 25-year-old Aus-trian housemaid, in 3:29.06.

The lone U.S. entry, Dorothy Hirschland of Closter, N.J., withdrew after the first run.

Finley Plans Meeting With KC Officials

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charles O. Finley will meet with city of-ficials again Thursday but there is no indication whether it will bring any break in the long deadlock over a stadium lease for his Kansas City Athletics.

The American League ordered Finley to sign a lease by Feb. 1 or face expulsion after reject-ing by a 9-1 vote his bid to move the club to Louisville Jan. 16. The league later extended the deadline to Feb. 15.

City Manager Carleton F. Sharpe said Finley in a telephone call from Chicago Monday didn't say whether he would make any new proposal at the meeting. Sharpe set the meeting for 9 a.m. CST.

Last week a meeting ended with Finley and the city farther apart than ever. The city stood firm in its contention a four-year pact is needed to stabilize the troubled franchise and end repeated threats of the club leaving the city.

Finley insisted he would risk bankruptcy by signing a lease for more than two years. But he rejected the city's offer to in-sert a clause in the lease per-mitting him to leave if threat-ened by bankruptcy.

Youngster Due Blood Of Students, Faculty

GLEN ESTE, Ohio (AP) — Students and faculty members of the Four Square Bible School at Mount Vernon plan to give 200 pints of blood for Harry Adkins, the 12-year-old boy's parents say.

Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubra C. Adkins, is in critical condition at Children's Hospital in Cincinnati with severe burns suffered in a kite-flying accident Jan. 22.

Sophomore Jim Grabowski, Illinois fullback, and senior Lou Holland, Wisconsin halfback, led the Big Ten in scoring last season, each getting 30 points.

Junior Editors Quiz on

QUESTION: How is gunpowder exploded in a rifle?

ANSWER: With old fashioned guns (top of picture) you put the powder in from the muzzle or end of the barrel and rammed a round bullet down on top of this. In the flintlock (top) a flash was made by a flint striking steel in the lock, then this went through a small hole and set off the powder. We show a kind of paper cartridge sometimes used with these. The shooter bit off the end of the paper and then poured the powder inside down his gun's muzzle, ramming the ball on top.

In 1805, the Scotchman, Forsyth discovered a compound, mostly potassium chlorate, which could be made to explode when struck by a hammer. This was soon used for rifles in the "percussion cap," a small cap containing the compound which was slipped over a tube in a gun's lock connecting with the main charge. A falling hammer exploded the compound and fired the gun. Later, as cartridges were developed, they were exploded by using this compound. Jerry is aiming his .22 caliber gun. In the cartridges for this, the explosive compound is in the rim, and the "firing pin" of his gun will fall against the rim and shoot the rifle. With larger guns, such as the M14 U. S. Army rifle (below) the gun's firing pin hits a "primer" in the center of the cartridge which contains the compound.

FOR YOU TO DO: Don't take guns apart to see how they work; it is very easy to set them off and you might have a bad accident. Even soldiers have to be taught how to handle guns and cartridges before they are allowed to use them.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 4, the 35th day of 1964. There are 331 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1861, delegates from six seceding Southern states met at Montgomery, Ala., to frame a government for the Confederate States of America. The states represented were South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

On this date:

In 1789, presidential electors cast all 69 of their votes for George Washington and chose John Adams as vice president.

In 1887, the Interstate Commerce Commission was established.

In 1910, three persons were killed in the collapse of an ice bridge at Niagara Falls.

In 1939, Russian and Japanese troops clashed on the Manchurian frontier.

In 1944, U.S. Adm. Chester Nimitz became military governor of the Marshall Islands in the Pacific during World War II.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower asked the U.S. Supreme Court to rule that the Submerged Lands Act was unconstitutional and to bar suits by Alabama and Rhode Island.

Five years ago — The Justice Department ordered a grand jury investigation of the huge General Motors Corp., for possible anti-trust law violations.

One year ago — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant urged the world's scientists to devote more time and effort toward meeting mankind's everyday needs.

Creative Urge Should Be Encourage

As I pointed out yesterday, we may observe greatest achievement and growth in creativeness by children with blocks and other toys and with crayons and paint during the years long before they enter school. How wonderful it is that they do this without being taught. Their parents don't need to be rich or highly educated or especially trained in drawing or constructive skills themselves.

Parents promote creativeness most in the youngster by providing him with simple inexpensive materials and by enjoying what he creates. Parents can hamper his creativeness, however, by providing him with too many playthings or trying too hard to help him to create.

BY THE WAY, while coloring books may afford the child early practice at hand-eye coordination in drawing and coloring, they may, if used too long, hamper his creative urge. In addition to creating by putting blocks and other playthings together according to his own plans, or drawing or painting real or imagined things, the very young child creates with words.

He talks for pleasure about things he has seen or imagined and puts together all sorts of stories coming out of his little head. He may begin to do this before he is two or three and continue doing it till cramped by matter-of-fact adults or the formalities of book-learning at school.

No one needs to teach the young child to create in this way. He just needs to have parents and other understanding persons to let him go on creating and to appreciate what he creates. These parents may stimulate his verbal creations by reading to him from the time he begins to listen; and most children by the age of two or earlier begin to listen.

But if, as he makes up stories, his parents or others ignore his creations, or worse still, make fun of them, or label them as untruths, he may create fewer and fewer ideas.

BLESSED is the child whose parents enjoy his creations with words as well as things and thus encourage him. More and more parents, it seems, are doing just this.

For example, they not only enjoy the pictures the very young child draws and paints and the yarns of fancy he spins but they also file and display his pictures and the stories he makes up. Sometimes they read these stories back to him.

In this column over the years, you have seen some verbal creations by very young children taken down and sent me by their parents. You have enjoyed them for their freshness and departure from the commonplace.

Indeed, one may see in such stories samples of creation unmatched by what school children or college students write.

The agency also announced Monday an interest-free loan of $5,000 to Nevada in Wyandot County, Ohio, to plan a sanitary sewage system.

Prayer Breakfast Set At Hotel On March 14

Some 125 are expected to attend a "Prayer Breakfast" at the Travelers Hotel March 14. Plans for the event were announced today following a meeting Monday afternoon at the hotel.

The get-together will be from 7 to 8:30 a. m., with Robert Dunston, former mayor of Warren and a candidate for Congress from the 11th Ohio District the speaker.

William Smith is serving as general chairman and Delmar T. O'Hara as program chairman.

Other committee chairmen are: Harry McConville, seating; Ralph Compas, invitations; George A. Shaw and Joe Coons, publicity. Gordon E. Starkey will serve as treasurer for the sponsoring organization.

The idea for the breakfast here evolved from the "President's Prayer Breakfast" at Washington, which brings together representatives of the various political parties and the various faiths to express thanks to God for the opportunities afforded them under our democratic form of government.

The mayor, safety-service director and members of East Liverpool City Council and township trustees from neighboring communities will be among those invited. Smith said the attendance will be limited to the capacity of the hotel dining room.

Plans call for the program to be broadcast so others may share in the message.

Check Continues On Tax Returns

Some employers failed to comply with a deadline Friday to remit funds withheld from employees' wages to the city income tax office, D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, said today.

Wilkinson said he knows some employers are delinquent, but will not be able to determine the exact number until mid-week, possibly Wednesday.

The office still is opening mail received in the last-minute rush from employers who wait until the deadline to make remittances, he explained.

Some 574 firms are required to withhold the tax from payrolls, since the withholding clause of the city ordinance covers any individual or company that employs one or more workers.

Mechanical toys are not new. Before the Christian era, ancient Greeks made a wooden pigeon that flew. Air escaping from an animal bladder as from a balloon propelled the toy.

Keep In Trim

Give Exercise The 'Magic' Touch

Do you have in your wardrobe a favorite dress that you can no longer crowd into — a dress that is about one size too small? To wear that dress you will need to take off 10 to 16 pounds and sheer of 1½ to 2 inches through the middle measurements.

If you do not, Ida Jean Kain have such a dress on hand, then baste in the outline on a seldom used dress that is your present size, indenting the waist three-quarters of an inch on each side, and the abdomen and hips one inch on each side. There's your pattern.

VISUALIZE yourself slimming down in the right places as you stretch and bend to banish the bulges. Use your mind as you exercise and aim toward a goal. This quickens the spirit and sustains interest.

The technique is to combine imagination (visualizing) with kinesiology, the science of bodily movement with isometric contraction, to increase the toning effects. It's sheer magic! Turn on a tune if you like... music with a slow rhythm and a definite beat. To slim the mid-section, center the action there. Aim to reach the muscles that bind the silhouette at the sides. Here we go: through the middle measurement. At the height of the stretch-bend, h-o-l-d. Make this a six-word count... slim, lithe, lissome... willowy, trim and slim. Back to position, bend toward the other side, and again chant your word picture. The word picture helps you to visualize yourself slimming down in the right places. Think slim... sing your words to reach the target.

Action: Bend slowly toward right side, centering the pull

THREE TIMES on each side will be ample. Side-bending literally pulls off the bulges. By holding the contraction, the isometric principle is brought into play and the toning effect is multiplied many times.

Swing to slim the hips: Position: Stand holding onto a chair back with left hand... for balance.

Action: Swing right left forward, knee straight, then swing leg rearward. As you swing leg to the rear, bend forward so as to increase the angle of swing. Make sure to swing past a 45-degree angle so as to bring the big hip muscle into the action. On the rear swing, h-o-l-d the muscle contraction. Hold to a six word count — swing - to - be slimmer-slim-and-slimmer.

Tone in the figure controlling muscles will help you look and be slimmer. Result: streamlines!
